. Each year the doctors Tent of Life ENT Specialist Clinic have thousands of visits from patients who suffer from allergic problems. The conditions we treat include allergic rhinitis (hay fever, seasonal allergies), urticaria (hives) and mild asthma. The basic premise of these conditions is that the body over reacts to harmless stimuli in the environment like dust or pollen for example, as though they are harmful (like bacteria or viruses). This causes the release of chemicals in the body, such as histamine, that lead to the development of symptoms like congestion and runny nose
